

Designer

Hay House Publishers, specialist in Non-fiction, Personal Development and Mind, Body, Spirit books, digital products and online courses, are looking for a professional and experienced designer to join their busy design department.

You will be working closely with the Senior Design Manager to ensure all product deadlines are met and work is completed to a high standard. This is a fast-paced and varied role, and you will work across many projects simultaneously from book cover design and interiors to marketing (both online and print) and general artworking.

The right candidate has an excellent eye for detail, is familiar with preparing artwork for press, and enjoys working in a team as well on their own initiative. This is an excellent opportunity for someone who is currently working in publishing and would like to develop and expand their creative experience in an exciting, growing publishing company.

You will have at least 2 years' in-house design experience in a publishing environment and excellent knowledge of Adobe Creative Suite, especially Indesign and Photoshop. You will also have a Graphic Design degree or equivalent design qualification, and possess excellent typographic and layout skills. It is essential that you are familiar with proofreader's marks and have experience of working with editorial and production departments.

If you are interested in joining our team, please send your CV, examples of relevant work (PDFs no bigger than 5MB), cover letter and details of your salary expectations to:
